Theological Students attend services at All Saints Memorial Chapel at The Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, California.

Seminarians from this Diocese at Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Virginia, are Covy Edmund Blackmon and Ivor J. Torgerson, Jr., shown discussing a problem.

Seminarians at The Church Divinity School of the Pacific from Hawaii are: Bruce Kennedy, Norio Sasaki, Jefferson Stephens, Roger Melrose, (in back) William Aulenbach and N. Bradley Allen.

Theological Education Sunday

Theological Education Sunday will be observed in all of our churches on Sunday, January 26th. With nine of our young men in seminaries, we should be more than interested in this observance and generous in our support.

From Virginia Seminary, Alexandria, Virginia we have the following statement from Ivor Torgerson, one of our two seminarians:

What it means to be in Seminary:

It means a rare opportunity of acquiring knowledge about God, about life, its meaning, and our relationship to God and to each other.

Carved in limestone at the entrance to the new library are the memorable words of Dr. Sparrow: "Seek the Truth, come whence it may, cost what it will". This quotation is symbolic of the spirit that pervades the Seminary and brings the whole of life into sharp focus. All the theological, literary, and scientific tools available are brought to bear on the many facets of life, both religious and secular, but the real purpose in doing this is to bring man and God closer together that we may find salvation.

Here it is that we learn; we learn about God, about people, about ourselves; this is important, but more important is the use of this knowledge in the discipline of living with others in adversity and prosperity, in sorrow and joy, but above all to live together in love through our Lord Jesus Christ.

From the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, Berkeley, California, where we have six men attending, Bruce Kennedy has written:

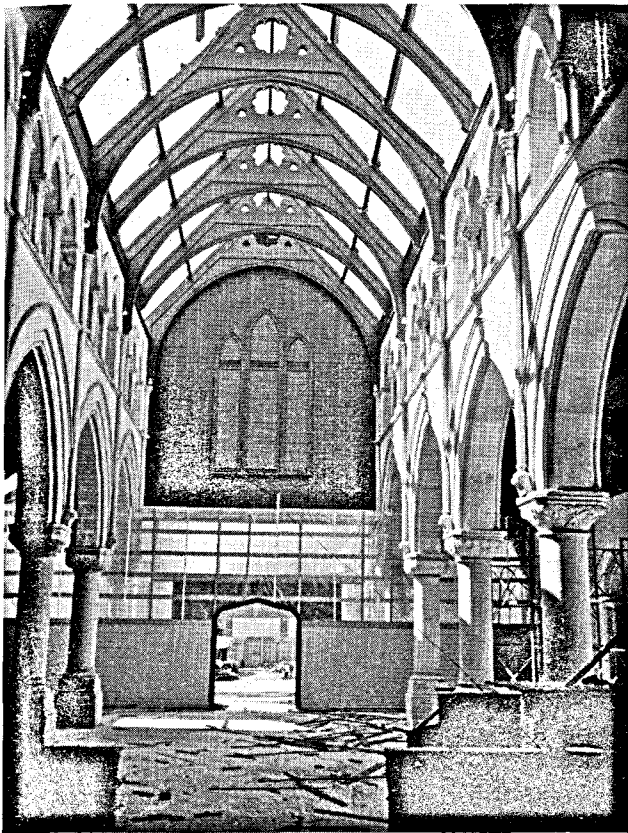

The Church Divinity School of the Pacific sits on a hill overlooking the panorama of San Francisco Bay. From one of the dormitories the view includes Alameda with its Naval Air Station in the distance on the left, the bay bridge stretching across the water to Yerba Buena Island and then on to the City of San Francisco which is stacked up on the hills in the distance, the Golden Gate bridge which is the gateway to the Pacific Ocean on the horizon, and right down the hill in front of the Seminary, the city of Berkeley goes down to the waterfront of the Bay. The Campanile of the University of California is a few blocks away and its chimes fill the air all around the surrounding hills.

It is a beautiful location for a graduate school and a particularly appropriate setting for a theological seminary. It is neither lost in a huge metropolitan area where it might have to close its doors to the outside world in order to preserve its devotional character, nor is it isolated in some "ivory tower" countryside where it loses track of the humanity with which it is dedicated to deal.

C.D.S.P. has another peculiar status. Being the only Episcopal Seminary on the West Coast, it is oriented toward the Pacific and the Far East in a way which no other Seminary can be. Its students and faculty are very aware of this crucial position, because they realize that the future spread of the Kingdom of God will have its greatest challenges beyond the Pacific Ocean. Outstanding faculty members have come to C.D.S.P., taking decreases in salaries and giving up access to great Eastern libraries, so that they can work for the day when the Church will again be able to enter the vast land areas of the Far

St. Andrew's Cathedral in its "face lifting" stages. Above is looking out from the altar before the entrance was removed.

Removal of a portion of the roof.

Progress is in the Making

St. Andrew's Cathedral is literally "raising the roof" these days. It is really fantastic to see how the contractor is taking the roof off, step by step. Those who work in the Cathedral Close find it hard to stay peeled to their desks when the process of raising is going on.

During the months when the Cathedral is getting a new roof, services are being held in Parke Chapel. It is expected that the Cathedral will be ready for use again by June first.

Receives Honor

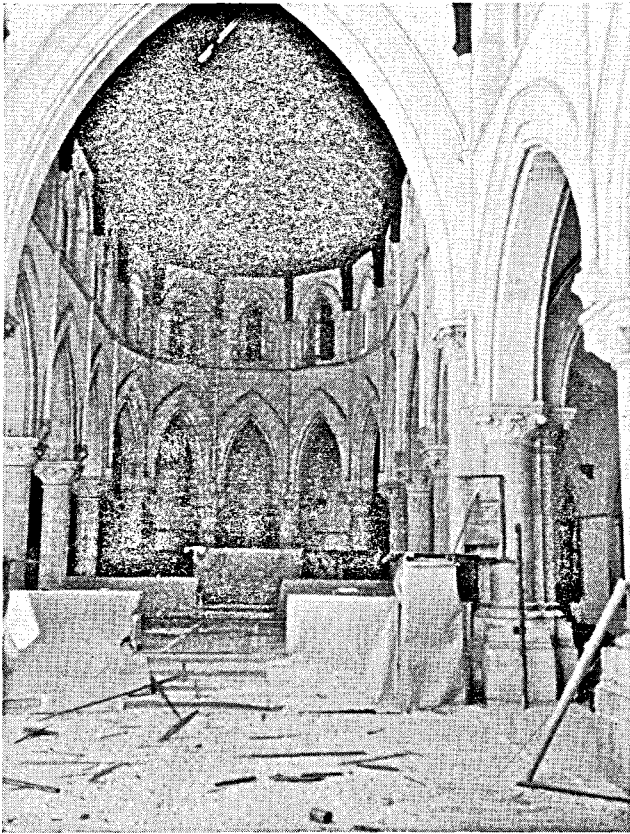

Mr. Joseph L. Dwight, Jr., Senior Warden of St. Matthew's Church, Waimanalo, has been appointed as a Deputy Territorial Attorney General. He will be assigned to the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations.

He has been a devoted worker for our mission at Waimanalo. He is a descendant of Samuel G. Dwight, one of the early Congregational missionaries to Hawaii.

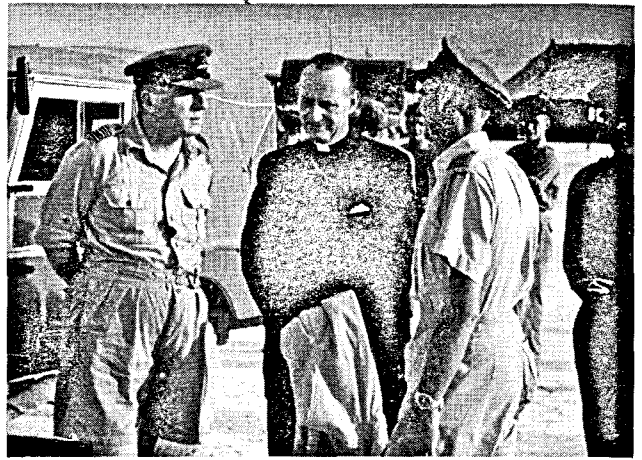

Broadcast Christmas Hymns

The Canterbury Club at the University of Hawaii broadcast Christmas Hymns over the radio. The program was held at Iolani Palace. The Christmas story as told by St. Luke was read by three of our clergy, in Chinese by the Rev. Canon Wai On Shim, in Japanese by the Rev. Lawrence H. Ozaki and in English by the Rev. Canon Norman Ault, who is in charge of the work of the University students.

The young people at Holy Nativity Church were in charge of the window display for the Episcopal Church at the Hawaiian Electric Company. Each year the various churches plan windows of a religious nature that are displayed by this company.

The Bishop is greeted on Christmas Island by Chaplain W. V. Scott and Wing Commander Stevenson, A.F.C., representing the Commanding Officer of the Royal Air Force.

Return to the Islands

The Rt. Rev. Theodore R. Ludlow, Retired Suffragan Bishop of Newark, and Mrs. Ludlow will arrive on February 5th to spend some time with the Rev. and Mrs. C. Fletcher Howe. They have many friends in Hawaii who will be delighted to see them. Bishop Ludlow is Mrs. Howe's brother.

Purchase New Site for the Academy

The Hawaii Preparatory Academy, at Kamuela, purchased 55 acres of land for the construction of new buildings. This land, owned by the Territory, was purchased for the upset price of $25,000. Construction of the new plant will start in the near future.

To Attend Convocation

The Reverend Richard H. Baker, of Agana, Guam, will be present for the Convocation. He hopes to have one of his congregation accompany him as a delegate. We know that our people will wish to hear him tell of the work on Guam.

Has Confirmations of Christmas Island

The Bishop was flown to Christmas Island on January 11th by the Royal Air Force to confirm for Chaplain W. V. Scott. Christmas Island is 1200 miles from Honolulu and is being used by the British government for their Asiatic tests.

Chaplain Scott plans to be present for the 56th Annual Convocation.

To Become Rector of St. Christopher's Parish

The Ven. Claude F. Du Teil, Rector of Good Shepherd Parish, Wailuku, Maui, and Archdeacon of Maui, has been called as Rector of St. Christopher's Parish, Kailua, Oahu. He will take up his duties there as of February 1st.

After his graduation from Virginia Theological Seminary, he came to Hawaii in July, 1949, where he was Vicar of St. Stephen's-in-the-Fields, Wahiawa. In July, 1954 he was called to the Church of the Good Shepherd. During his years on Maui he has done much to strengthen the work on that Island and on Molokai.

Although the members of his congregation regret having him leave, they join the many who rejoice in the new honor that has come to him. He, his wife and three children will come to Kailua the latter part of January.

The Very Reverend Paul Roberts, who has been helping us at St. Christopher's during the interim without a rector, will go to Wailuku until a rector is called to Good Shepherd Church. He and Mrs. Roberts will go to Maui immediately after Convocation.

The late Ven. Henry A. Willey, D.D.

Retired Kauai Archdeacon Dies

The Venerable Henry A. Willey, D.D., archdeacon emeritus for the Episcopal Church on Kauai, and former Vicar of All Saints Church, Kapaa, passed away on January 4th at Wilcox Memorial Hospital, at the age of 70.

He was born in Willeyton, North Carolina on December 21, 1887. He is survived by his wife, Juelle Willey.

Funeral services were held at All Saints Church on Sunday, January 5th, and were conducted by the Bishop, the Ven. Norman R. Alter, Vicar of the Church and the Rev. Kenneth T. Cosby of St. John's-by-the-Sea. His ashes will be placed in a columbarium which is to be built next to All Saints Church as a memorial to him.

He was a much beloved and revered person on Kauai and in the Diocese. He and Mrs. Willey came to Kauai from St. George's Church, Griffin, Georgia, on October 21, 1924. He was convinced that 21 was his lucky number—being born on the 21st of the month, married on the 21st of the month, arriving in the Islands on the 21st and having 21 communicants attend his first service on Kauai.

A $5,000 gift from two Washington, D.C., women started All Saints', the first church on the 555-square mile island that was his parish. He built the other churches on Kauai and set up a youth program of education, as well as recreation.

Ill health forced him to retire in 1948, but he knew that his work had been appreciated by all who knew him, and that he established a very fine work on his island. In recognition of this, the University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee, awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of divinity after twenty-four years in the ministry. It was awarded in absentia because he was too ill to leave Hawaii.

The church was filled to overflowing at his funeral service—which was a tribute to the esteem with which he was held by those who knew him. The Diocese has lost a devout servant of our Lord, but his influence for good will always live. We extend deep sympathy to his bereaved widow.

My Explanation of the 23rd Psalm

By Robert T. Watts, Jr.

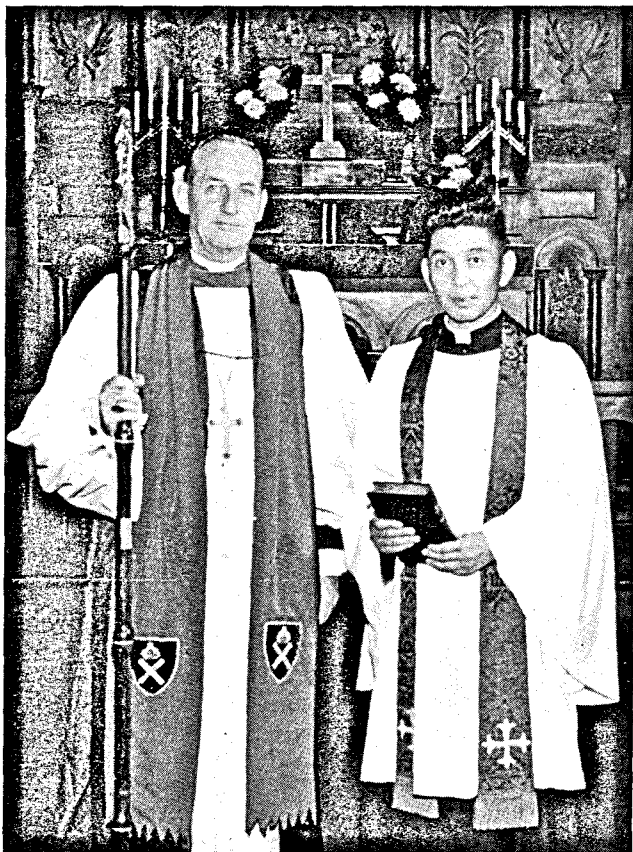

Age 14 of St. Paul's Church, Kekaha, Kauai

The Lord is my leader. I shall not want anything more than what He gives me. He makes me as comfortable as possible and supplies me with all of my spiritual needs. He forgives me for all that I have done wrong and makes me clean. He shows and teaches the right things for His name's sake. No matter what my hardships and difficulties, even to face death, I shall be bold and have no fear for God is with me always and He comforts me. He makes me strong and confident no matter what fears and enemies I may have to face. It is sort of like spiritual food which God gives us. We may lose all our possessions but we cannot lose our spiritual possessions which God gives us. He supplies us and He gives us more than what we need. If I believe in God and have faith in Him, goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will live with Him forever.

The above was written by Robert for his God and Country Award in Boy Scouts.

Churchwomen Join in Day of Prayer, February 21

On World Day of Prayer, Episcopal women can join women of other communions to show their concern for the whole Christian Church and its work here and overseas. Sponsored by United Church Women, World Day of Prayer is February 21, 1958.

56th Annual Convocation

It is the sincere hope of the Bishop that as many of our people as possible will reserve the dates of February 7-12 for the 56th Annual Convocation of the Missionary District of Honolulu. This is one means through which our people can learn to know the work of our Church in Hawaii.

The Very Reverend Paul Robert, Retired Dean of St. John's Cathedral, Denver, Colorado, will be the guest speaker of Convocation, which is an assurance of some outstanding messages.

The Opening Service of Convocation will be held Sunday, February 9th, at 7:30 p.m., at the St. Alban's Chapel, Iolani School. The combined choirs on Oahu will sing for this service, led by Mr. Walter Kau, Organist. The Bishop will deliver his annual address. A reception will follow the service.

Each day of Convocation will open with a service of Holy Communion at 8:00 a.m., in Parke Memorial Chapel. The business session will be held at 9:15 a.m., Monday, February 10th, in Tenney Memorial Hall.

The Diocesan Banquet will be Monday night, in the Long House of the Hawaiian Village. This is always an outstanding event of Convocation, so we would urge people to get their tickets promptly.

On Friday, February 7th, there will be an all day Teachers Institute for Parochial and Day School teachers and staffs. Sessions for this will be held at St. Andrew's Priory.

That evening the young people of grades 9-12 and Canterbury Club will have a buffet dinner banquet at the Reef Hotel, at 6:30 p.m. This will be followed by a dance in the Pepper Mill Room.

Saturday morning this same group will go to the Mokuleia Conference Center for an all day conference. The theme for this will be "Teenagers and Parents." The 7th and 8th graders will have a conference at the Reef Hotel from 10 a.m. until after a noonday luncheon. Their theme will be "Teenagers and Their Friends."

The Woman's Auxiliary will hold their Annual Meeting on Tuesday, February 11th, in Tenney Memorial Hall. The business meeting opens at 9:30 a.m. The Reverend Richard H. Baker, of Guam, will speak on his work there. In the afternoon the Bishop will speak on the work of the Diocese. Wednesday morning the Executive Board of the Auxiliary will put on an exemplification meeting for the instruction of auxiliaries.

Tuesday night, at 6:30 p.m., there will be a banquet in the Gold Room of the Hawaiian Village Hotel for the clergy and their wives.

Convocation will close with a Clergy Conference, to be held in the Diocesan House on Wednesday.

Leaves Gift to the Diocese

Mrs. Hoste Mck Harrison (Susan Speed), who died last year, left a gift of $5,000 to the Diocese. This is in keeping with her great love for the church and its work. She was a member of St. Andrew's Cathedral.

It was her father, General Edward Davis, who gave the money to build St. Mary's Church, Honolulu, in memory of his wife.

Tips to Leaders

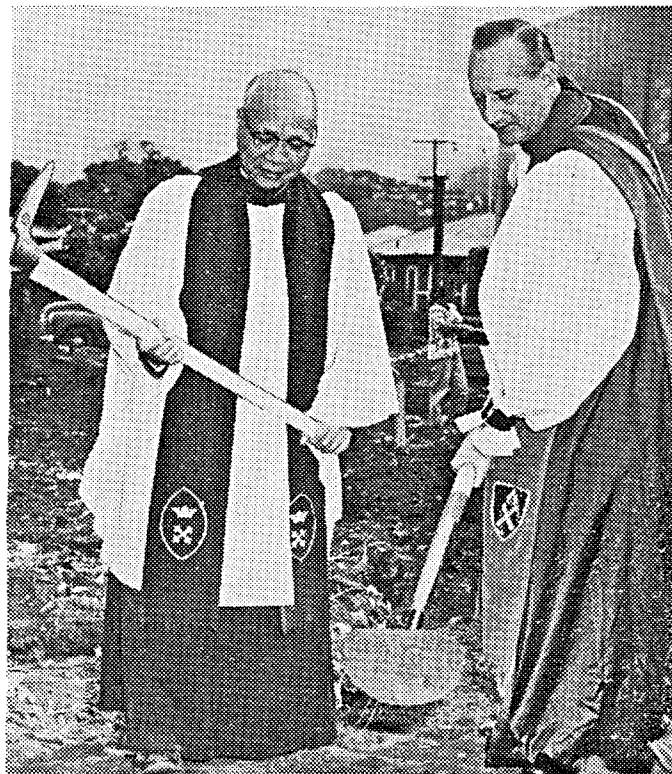

Christian Education is really at the heart of all that we do as Christians. Our Lord was commonly called "Teacher", and every follower of Christ is a teacher in one respect or another. These things are true because most Christian Education takes place outside the classroom; the home, for good or ill, is still the greatest center of influence.

Beginning with this issue of the Chronicle, various members of your Diocesan Department of Christian Education will bring "Tips to Leaders", i.e., all of our readers, in the hope that we may all be more effective followers of The Teacher.

The Church School Missionary Offering

This year's Lenten Mite-Box offering has been designated for use in the Missionary District of Salina (Kansas) and in the Nippon SAIKOKWAI (Church in Japan). Now is the time to begin planning the study of these areas so that the offerings made by our children may be meaningful to them. The National Council has prepared a number of very helpful pamphlets which may be ordered through your clergy.

"In the Country of Wyatt Earp" is an attractive 8-page booklet describing the District of Salina and the growth which is being experienced there. "We Sing in Japanese" is a leaflet containing the English and the Japanese words to two hymns, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Jesus Loves Me". Each Church School should endeavor to learn these two hymns in order that its members may experience something of worship in the Japanese Church.

The National Council is sponsoring a Poster Contest for children between eleven and eighteen years of age. This is an annual contest seeking posters depicting some phase of the Church's work in either of the areas under study. Since a large portion of our Church School children are under eleven, the Diocesan Department of Christian Education will sponsor a poster contest for children from six through ten. Rules for this contest will be identical with the rules for the national contest except for the difference in age requirements. Entries should be sent to the Department of Christian Education, Queen Emma Square, Honolulu 13, T.H.

These things are all "extras" which can be used to supplement the material given in the Teacher's Study guide, In Him Meet East and West, which is published by the Seabury Press.

Christmas service in Taiwan

The Reverend John R. Caton, in charge of our work in Taiwan, writes that all churches there had wonderful Christmas services. The Reverend Richard S. K. Yoh, recently priested, held services in the three churches in the south, St. Paul's, Kaohsiung, All Saints, Kangshan, and Grace Church, Tainan.

The Rev. Mr. Caton received a gift of $350 from Trinity Church, Fillmore, California, money that was raised from a "Taiwan Booth" at their bazaar. The Reverend H. Russell Roberts, rector of the Church, is a friend of long standing, having served with the Rev. Mr. Caton in South Dakota.

East and continue the Missionary purpose upon which the Church is built.

For the people of the Hawaiian Islands, C.D.S.P. is the seminary of the Church which is striving most to bring about a Christian understanding between East and West which is so much a part of the thoughts of Island people. Students come to C.D.S.P. from Japan, Formosa, Hong Kong, India, and Moslem countries. They come to study for the ministry so that they can return to minister to their own people. And Hawaii, the one place in the world where the mingling of East and West is an already accomplished fact, has more students at C.D.S.P. than do many of the large dioceses of the nation.

Altogether, there are eighteen members of the Seminary Community who are canonically connected with the Missionary District of Honolulu. In the Senior class, Norio Sasaki and Jeff Stephens are finishing their training this year and will be heading for work in the District in the Summer of 1958. Norio is an Island man whose wife, Florence, and son, Jimmy, have been great additions to the Seminary family. Jeff and Virginia Stephens with their baby Carrie Anne, came to the District from the Diocese of Los Angeles, where Jeff was originally a Postulant. The Middler class is contributing only one family to the work in the islands but that family, with its five members, is large enough and lively enough to make itself strongly felt both here at C.D.S.P. and later, in the islands. This is the family of Roger and Charlotte Melrose which includes their three sons, Kenneth, Jeffrey, and David. The Junior Class has the largest representation of all. Two bachelors, Bill Aulenbach and Bruce Kennedy, are alone against another five-member family. Brad and Annette Allen have two boys, Vincent and Jeffrey, and a tiny young lady, Polly. Altogether, the island representatives are a formidable group and it takes a pretty large house and a lot of food for them to be able to get together for dinner.

C.D.S.P. is well equipped to bring the Christian faith, through its graduates, to peoples of widely divergent cultures, and societies. It recognizes as a matter of policy that Christianity is for all men where they are and that they need not be "westernized" to be Christians. Too often in the past, the church has mistakenly assumed that the Missionary aims included bringing and imposing one's own social structure on the peoples of non-Christian lands. This has failed in other places than just China and the program of the Church Divinity School is to make the Christian faith valid to people in their own society and to remove the stigma of its being a "white man's" religion. In this, the Hawaiian islands can play an important role. The Churchmen of Hawaii can stand as examples of how the faith is valid for all men regardless of race or culture, they can encourage young men of all nationalities to consider the Church's ministry as their profession and they can contribute their physical and financial resources to assist in the training of these men.

Our Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, commends Theological Education Sunday with this statement:

The theological Seminaries of our Church are of key significance as any thoughtful communicant must recognize. For in them our clergy are trained for their future tasks. The quality of the ministry affects every man, woman, and child in the church. The Seminaries are centers of light and of learning. In their need of securing adequate faculties with the necessary equipment, they need and deserve the support of all who love and would serve the Church.
