St. Andrew's Priory School Chooses First Alumna Head

Caroline Ward Oda, a consultant specializing in strengthening organizations, including independent schools, has been appointed interim Head of St. Andrew's Priory School by the school's Board of Trustees.

Oda, who is the first Priory graduate to lead the school's administration, will serve through the 2000-2001 school year while the search for the permanent head continues.

Board Chair, Betty Fujii Hirozawa, said that Oda's diverse experience and accomplishments in education and social service impressed the Board. Hirozawa is also a Priory alumna.

A graduate of Stanford University, Oda earned a masters in Language Arts from San Francisco State University, a masters of social work from the University of California at Berkeley, and is currently a doctoral student in Sociology at the University of Hawai'i Manoa.

Oda has served as a teacher and department head in the San Francisco Unified School District, and Head of School of Christian Academy in Moanalua. Since 1995, Oda has been a consultant to independent schools and other non-profit organizations through her company, Collaborations. Before forming Collaborations, she served as Chief Program Officer for the Consuelo Zobel Alger Foundation. Her core clients have included the Consuelo Foundation, the Hawai'i Association of Independent Schools, the Council on Accreditation for Children and Family Services in New York, and the Evaluation Center at Western Michigan University.

Oda is a successful fundraiser, conference presenter, trainer, and published author of numerous articles on educational and social issues. She is a member of the Boards of Honolulu Rotary, St.

Andrew's Priory School, Kids Voting Hawai'i, Missing Child Center Hawai'i, Hawai'i Justice Foundation, and House of Prayer.

Dr. J. Stevens Bean, departing Head of School, announced his retirement earlier this year [see March 2000 Chronicle]. The Board of Trustees appointed a Search Committee whose work is patterned on guidelines developed by the National Association of Independent Schools (NAIS) and the Hawai'i Association of Independent Schools. The Priory is a member of both.

In the 133 years since its founding by Queen Emma, St. Andrew's Priory School for Girls has educated Hawai'i's girls and young women from kindergarten through high school for futures as actively contributing citizens. Today, her legacy prevails through more than 3,000 Priory alumnae, who are leaders of families, businesses, and communities in Hawai'i and throughout the world. Irmgard Farden Aluli '29 and the late Iolani Luahine '35 are just two of the Priory's many prominent alumnae.

In addition to its day school, the Priory's operations also include the Queen Emma Preschool on the Pali Highway and the Queen Emma Center which offers afterschool, holiday childcare, evening and summer programs for children and adults and facilities rental for community use.

Consider a Call from God...and the Diocese

By DAVID CALDWELL
Nominating Committee

As we enter the new millennium, doing many of the things we did in the old, following patterns etched for us by rote or canon, I make a plea to each of you to pause for a moment's reflection. If you are at all like me, there is a natural tendency to brush past the description of elective offices to be filled at the upcoming Annual Meeting of the Convention in October, having seen it as a repeating pattern year in and year out. It's true that we do find ourselves addressing the same needs over and over again, and in the process it is all too easy to become jaded and careless in our thoughts and sometimes in our commitments as well. Not each of us is called by Christ to serve in elective capacity at this time, but the call to discernment does fall on each of us. Of those among us who are called, many may not be aware of the calling until asked by others to serve. It is vital that as a community of Faith, Hope, and Love, we do not rely on others to discern God's will. We are called to do that individually, and to share it communally. It is our prayer life. It is the wakefulness and watchfulness we are called to repeat, over and over and over again.

As Christians, we know that revisiting old patterns and places doesn't lead to jadedness as long as we do it with Christ. It leads to aliveness, to revelation, to being surprised by Joy and sharing the good news with others. Share your good news with a friend this summer. As God whispers the name of a friend in your ear, pass it on! Ask that person to consider running for office. If you are the one being asked, don't reject the request out of hand. Jonah tried that and still he ended up in Nineveh. If you haven't done so already, pause and consider God's will in your life here and now. And if God whispers, or perhaps shouts your own name, step forward and nominate yourself. No shame! Please, for the sake of the whole body, be discerning, be prayerful, and be active. Christ will fill the slate of nominees, but not without our help.

Listed on page D are the various offices which will be voted upon on Convention Friday, October 27.

Bishop's Letter

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

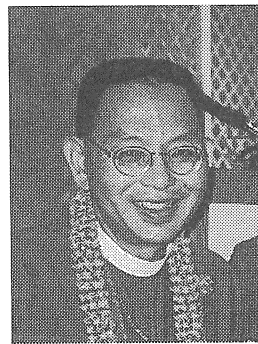

On August 21, Dee and I will begin our summer vacation. "What are you going to do?" "Where are you going for your vacation?" Our truthful but surprising responses have been simple: "Nothing" and "Nowhere." We have made no plans, no airline reservations, no hotel reservations, and no appointments. The only commitment to each other has been to make our vacation a Sabbath time that will be holy and renewing. We don't know what shape that will take, but each day will be holy and lived as a gift of blessing from God.

Most of our daily life is governed by our ministry in our Diocese, in the 8th Province, in the wider Church, and in our community. We already know that on January 6, 2002, I have a morning visitation to Epiphany Church, Honolulu, and then leave that evening for the meeting of the House of Bishops of Province 8. Even the best-planned schedules are changed by the pastoral ministry of a bishop, emergencies or crises.

Thus, Dee and I approach our vacation as Sabbath time. Time when we can intentionally focus on the holy in our lives and the world and anticipate no interruptions by FAX or e-mail. It is time when we can re-examine our wellness, physically and spiritually, with unencumbered schedules. It is time that we go to places that have been holy ground for us in our marriage and for our family. Vacation means setting aside for a while the many "ought's and should's" of episcopacy, and being renewed in the quietness of God's grace and love for us. Jesus had need to find a place apart for rest, in order that he might possess the strength to be obedient to God's Will. We expect to return from our Sabbath time renewed for ministry, as the power of God "working in us can do infinitely more than we can ask or imagine."

Scenes from Cathedral Day

Cathedral Day, held May 6 at St. Andrew's Cathedral, offered opportunities not only to discover various ministries, but also to empower participants for ministry in their church and larger communities. Ministers come in all shapes and sizes. Whether one is a child, youth, or adult, each person has a unique ministry to offer to the community.

The Plenary Speaker was Ernesto Medina, Canon Educator of the Diocese of Los Angeles. The morning was filled with a variety of workshops for all ages. At lunchtime, the gathering was entertained by Okinawan Koto and Dances, with Miyashiro Soho Kai. A procession led from Queen Emma Square to Parke Chapel for Eucharist. The procession included the diocesan quilt, pictured below.

DIOCESAN NEWS

Bishop Kimsey to Be Speaker and Chaplain for Diocesan Convention

The Rt. Rev. Rustin R. Kimsey, retired Bishop of the Diocese of Eastern Oregon, will be the Chaplain for the Annual Meeting of the Convention of the Diocese of Hawai'i, October 27-28, 2000. Bishop Kimsey will preach at the opening Eucharist on Friday afternoon and will introduce the Bible study on Saturday morning. He will also meet with the clergy of the diocese on Thursday afternoon, October 26. The topics to be discussed will be determined at a later date.

A sixth-generation Oregonian, Bishop Kimsey was born in 1935; was educated in public schools, the University of Oregon (B.S., 1957), the Episcopal Theological School (B.D., 1960), and the Diocese of Eastern Oregon (1960 until the present); and was married in 1961 to Gretchen Beck Rinehart. Their progeny are birth children Sean and Megan, foster son Larry, and grandson William. Rustin served churches in Redmond, Baker City, and The Dalles before being elected the fifth bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Oregon in 1980. His Christian formation has been via the churches and communities of eastern Oregon, focusing on Mutual Ministry, becoming aware of Celtic history/spirituality, functioning on commissions and committees of the church, and becoming a grandfather.

Bishop Kimsey has attended each General Convention of the Episcopal Church since 1967; chaired the Deputies' Committee on the Church in Small Communities; served two terms on the Executive Council of ECUSA (1969-1976 and 1988-1994); was clerical representative for ECUSA on the Anglican Consultative Council; chaired the Planning Committee for ECUSA's first Partners in Mission Consultation; served for two terms on the Columbia River Gorge Commission; served as president of Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon; is the retiring president of the Domestic Missionary Partnership, the successor to Coalition 14; convened a national Episcopal conference, "Agriculture Crisis in America"; observed the Nicaraguan elections in March 1990; and chaired ECUSA's Standing Commission for Ecumenical Relations. He retired as Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Oregon in June 2000, having served in that position for twenty years.

Nominations

Specific requirements for office are given, but we should remind ourselves of two important aspects of our discernment. One is that we are an inclusive church. We look for a diverse offering of candidates, young and old alike. Secondly, we need to remind ourselves of the responsibilities entrusted to those who serve. All persons elected to these roles must be committed to actively participate and attend all meetings. Though you need not be a delegate to run for office, it is desirable for all persons who are running to be present Friday afternoon in order to be introduced on the floor to the convention delegates. Although there is always an extra measure of servanthood involved in coming from neighbor islands, please be aware that air coupons are provided for committee meetings, and that every attempt will be made to arrange for airport transportation if required.

Though God's time is spontaneous and unpredictable, the nominating committee runs on Chronicle time. We ask that you submit nominations on appropriate forms (available from your own church or the diocesan office), plus a photograph, no later than 4:00 PM on September 9 to the Diocesan Office, in order that all nominees may be listed in the October issue of the Chronicle. Late nominations will be accepted, but they lack the advantage of disseminating one's qualifications and call to ministry to the wider audience. Mahalo on behalf of the Nominating Committee and may God be with us.

Renowned Musicians Help Celebrate PBFWR 60th Anniversary

The Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief will celebrate 60 years of emergency relief and development with a lunch featuring Presiding Bishop Frank Griswold and Phoebe Griswold and an evening of entertainment with world-renowned musicians during the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in Denver in July.

Presiding Bishop Griswold will make introductory remarks, and Phoebe Griswold, the Presiding

Bishop's wife who is actively involved in projects of The Fund, will be the keynote speaker at the lunch Friday, July 7.

On Monday, July 10, an evening of music celebrating The Fund's worldwide ministry will feature the classical vocal ensemble Chanticleer, singer Judy Collins, and musicians from the Aspen Music Festival and Opera Theatre. In addition, The Rt. Rev. Robert Tharp, The Fund's Chairman of the Board, will be featured on piano.

For more information, contact Joyce Hogg, Director of Networks and Special Projects, The Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, 815 Second Ave., New York, NY 10017, 800-334-7626, ext. 6027, <www.pbfwr.org>.

Speaker Chosen for September Men's Retreat

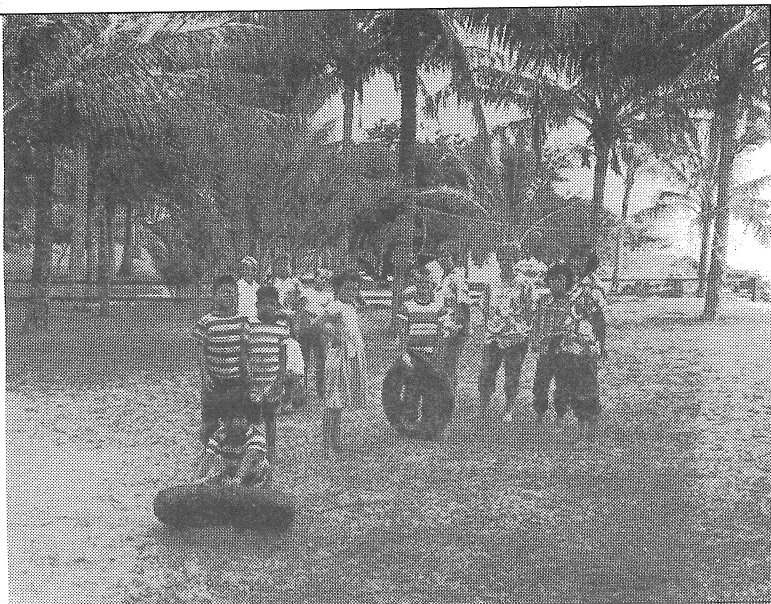

The Rt. Rev. Joseph Jon Bruno, the new Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the upcoming diocesan Men's Retreat on September 8-10. Joseph Jon Bruno was born in Los Angeles in 1946. In addition to his wife Mary, a law administrator and long-time human resource professional, the Bruno family includes three adult children and two grandchildren. Prior to ordination, Bruno was from 1968 to 1973 a police officer in the City of Burbank. He was also a football player under contract to the Denver Broncos.

Bruno holds a Master of Divinity degree (1977) from the Virginia Theological Seminary and a bachelor's degree in education from California State University Los Angeles (1973). He also holds a license in criminology from Long Beach State University. Bruno was ordained to the priesthood in 1978. He served churches in California and Oregon, prior to being elected Bishop Coadjutor on November 13, 1999.

As Bishop Coadjutor, he will assist Diocesan Bishop Frederick Borsch, who continues to serve the Diocese as its chief pastor. In the future, when Bishop Borsch chooses to retire, Jon Bruno will succeed him and begin ministry as the Diocese's sixth bishop. Bruno, who has exercised much of his 22-year priesthood in the Echo Park district of Los Angeles, served most recently as Provost of the Cathedral Center of St. Paul, the administrative and ministry hub of the six-county Diocese of Los Angeles. As provost of the Cathedral Center and pastor of its multilingual congregation, Bruno has been especially active in youth development and gang diversion, and he has long been an advocate for human rights, immigration equity, and gun control. The Cathedral Center was built on the site of the congregation, St. Athanasius' Church, which Bruno served since 1986 as rector. Dating from 1864, St. Athanasius' is the oldest Episcopal congregation in Southern California. Under Bruno's leadership, services are offered in English, Korean, and Spanish each Sunday morning.

The organizers of the Men's Retreat are still seeking a representative from each congregation to help in publicizing the retreat. If you are interested, please contact Bruce Fink at <brucefink@kahala.net>. The next meeting of the Diocesan Men's Retreat planning committee meeting on Wednesday, July 19, at 7 PM at St. Peter's Church, Honolulu.

GO TO CAMP!

New Activities Added to Summer Camp at Mokule'ia

BY DAVID CLOSE
Summer Camp Director, Camp Mokule'ia

Reprinted from the Spring 2000 issue of Camp Mokule'ia's newsletter.

Let me introduce myself and tell you about some of the sunsational things happening here at Camp for the summer of 2000. First, my name is David Close and I am the Camp Director for this summer. As many of you know, I have been working at Camp Mokule'ia since 1993 in the summer camp and outdoor education programs. Being a part of helping young people grow in their relationship with God and forming new friendships with their peers has been a most rewarding experience. I am excited to share our 2000 program and improvements with everyone.

To ensure a positive experience for everyone we have added some new and exciting activities to our summer programs. On our ROPES Course, designed to build teamwork by challenging each camper to test their limits and inner strength, we are installing three new events. We have added "All-a-Board," which allows groups to test their ability to work together to balance on a giant platform. We will add two new high elements — a "Multiline" event to a new "Zip Line" high in the trees where participants will be harnessed to a 180-foot-long cable for the ride down.

The summer camp program is shaping up to be the greatest ever. We are bringing back horseback riding, overnight camping to Peacock Flats, a day trip to Waimea Bay for swimming, and the boys will be able to sign up for tent camping during their session to experience life the way frontiersmen did. For the older campers, a special Session Seven offers a camping experience on Kaua'i. Our very talented staff from all over the world will lead all of these and many more fun activities. This summer, your smile is the only thing missing. Call 637-6241 for information and a brochure.

Note: Six week-long sessions are held through the summer, beginning June 25 and ending August 5, for children ages 7-13. The camp also has programs for ages 14 and 15 ("Leaders in Training") and ages 16 and 17 ("Counselors in Training"). Campers are invited for one or more weeks of programs. For more information, call 637-6241.

Individuals & Families Invited to "A Place Apart" at Mokule'ia Lodge

Camp Mokule'ia is now offering a new bed-and-breakfast type of service to individuals and families when the lodge is not being utilized by groups. Reservations cannot be made more than 30 days in advance of the arrival date. Within that window, lodge rooms may be rented for one or more nights, with continental breakfast (or a full breakfast if the kitchen is serving another group) service each morning.

The Camp Mokule'ia Lodge has 17 rooms, each with twin beds and either a private or shared bath. First-floor rooms, with shared beds, will rent for $65 per night per room for up to two people. The suite on the first floor sleeps up to four, and will rent for $120 per night. Second-floor rooms, with private bath, will rent for $75 per night per room for up to two people. One roll-a-way bed can be placed in each room for one additional person — the added charge will be $15 per night. All rooms include full linen and towel service.

Call the Camp Mokule'ia office (637-6241) to make your reservation for a special night in this "special place apart."

Challenge Grant Offered to Help Camp Mokuleia

Camp Mokuleia is in urgent need of a chain-link fence to surround the swimming pool area. The present wooden fence poses a hazard to anyone wishing to check the area from the outside. The Church of the Holy Nativity is presenting a challenge by offering to match any donations from other churches or individuals to meet this need, up to the amount of $2,000. The fence will cost $4,000. Checks may be made to "Church of the Holy Nativity" designated for "Mokuleia Matching Fund," 5286 Kalaniana'ole Hwy., Honolulu, HI 96821. Mahalo for your kokua!

Do you recognize any of these people attending Family Camp at Pecusa in the 1950s? This group includes Keith Tester, Hollis Maxson, Bob Fiddes, Roger Melrose, Dave Fullaway, Charlotte Melrose, Marion Wright, Bishop Kennedy, Ruth Fullaway, Roger Crouse, Megan Crouse, Dottie Crouse, Ethel Maxson, Alynne Fullaway.

Relax at Pecusa Family Camp ✦ July 14-27

In the mid-fifties a vision began to formulate in the minds of several Episcopalian families. The Fiddes, Fullaway, Hanchett, McBarnet, Duteil, Wright, Maconkey, Crouse, Morrison, Van Vost, and Melrose families envisioned a camp for youth from Episcopal families on Maui. So Camp Pecusa came to be in the late fifties. In 1958 the buildings were transported through the Pali tunnel, and in 1961 Bishop Harry S. Kennedy blessed the new A-frame cabins that cost $2,000 each.

The Family Camp tradition continues this year at Camp Pecusa on July 14-27. Families or individuals are invited to come for the whole time or for any portion. To help with your planning see the schedule below of each day's events.

The Camp program will include two hours each day of program for the children. Activities will be age appropriate and will give parents a chance for two hours of child care!

Please call St. John's Church, 878-1485 or 878-6974, or write RR2 Box 212, Kula, HI 96790, or e-mail to: <janetm@aloha.net> if your family would like to attend. People are invited to do any part of the program. If you are planning to stay overnight please let Heather at St. John's know your intentions.

- July 14 ☞ Opening Potluck — open to anyone
- July 15 ☞ 8:30 am, Beach Walk at low tide. A walk to the Petroglyphs in Olowalu and then to the Pier.

David Malo Pilgrimage and Other Happenings at Trinity-by-the-Sea

By JOAN VILA
Trinity-by-the-Sea, Kihei

The David Malo Pilgrimage is now being affectionately referred to as the "Death March" by the ten brave souls who made the trek up with the Lahainaluna High School boarders on May 20. We all assembled at the school by 7:30 AM. As we all waited for the boarders to assemble, each one of us remarked on our desire to attempt

When we reached the site, the young women boarders had already cleaned the site and had left a lei for each graduating class. We also made our lei tribute to this child of Hawai'i Nei.

Congratulations to Tanya Trailov, Elaine Rudi, Linda Frech, Ron and Doris Green, Brian Onwiler, Joan Vila, Susie Davis, Daniel Timony, and Fr. Morley who made the fearless hike.

A historical note: David Malo completed Trinity Church by-the-Sea in 1852 (originally called Kilolani Church) and was the first Native Hawaiian to be ordained in the Christian ministry. Within a year of the church's completion, David Malo died. His body was taken by canoe to Lahaina for burial atop Mt. Ball, overlooking his beloved alma mater of Lahainaluna School. Following his death, the Kilolani Congregation dispersed, and it was believed that around 1893 during the Monarchy's overthrow, the church was set afire in rebellion against those believed to be sympathetic to the government takeover. Then in the Fall of 1976 a small Episcopal congregation brought the ruins to life as the Diocese welcomed them into the Episcopal Church in Hawai'i. In 1979, Rev. Morley E. Frech Jr. was called to be the first full-time Vicar, and in 1986 the congregation attained Parish status and completed a successful capital campaign, resulting in the construction of Kilolani Hall and the Ault Sacristy.

The Trinity congregation has also been enjoying some other special events:

June 12-17, Vacation Bible School

This year Trinity by-the Sea is joining with Kihei Lutheran Church and Keolahou Hawaiian Church to sponsor a Vacation Bible School (VBS). It will be an early evening event and will also be intergenerational. There will be activities for the young people centered around the VBS curriculum "The Great Bible Land Dig" and bible study and mini-courses for the adults.

Holy Nativity's Head of School Resigns

By BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Holy Nativity School

Some exciting changes are underway at Holy Nativity School. The school has grown under Cindy Hoddick's six-year tenure, and we expect there to be continued growth as we keep pace with the twenty-first century. Mrs. Hoddick's contract with Holy Nativity was completed on June 16, and Mrs. Hoddick has elected to resign to pursue other interests. An active search has already begun for a new Head of School. Over the next few weeks, Fr. John Millen and the Executive Committee of the School Board will be assisting with the transition.

We are very pleased to announce that Mr. Reed Glover has agreed to serve as interim Head of School. Mr. Glover has had an association with Holy Nativity School spanning more than twenty-five years, and he served as Headmaster until 1993. He is already well known and respected by many teachers, parents, alumni, Board members, and Vestry members. Under Mr. Glover's expert guidance, the school will enjoy the best of leadership while the search for a permanent Head of School is underway.

Five from St. George's Inducted into Christian Healing Order

On Ascension Day, June 1, five members of St. George's, Pearl Harbor, were inducted into the Order of St. Luke the Physician (OSL), an international order for the ministry of Christian healing. The Rev. Malcolm Miner, Past President of OSL and author of several books on healing, came from Kaua'i to officiate at the ceremony. Those inducted were Margaret Cowan, Donald Kaiahua, Yvonne Kaiahua, Kirk Beasley, and the Rev. Liz Beasley, who was also inducted as a chaplain in the order.

Healing services are held each week at St. George's (511 Main Street, Honolulu) on Thursday at 6:30 PM. Anyone is invited to attend to receive healing prayers and, if they wish, laying on of hands and anointing, for themselves or for someone else. For more information about these healing services or about OSL, please call Liz Beasley at 422-7888.

this hike for many years now and were so happy to have this opportunity.

The boarders made a running start while we took it at a slower pace. Luckily, we had a school official with us and so the fearless group began our hike up Mount Ball. The weather was slightly overcast so it helped us weary hikers. It was a dusty, rough, and difficult hike up the steep trails.

We often pondered two questions as we made this trek: (1) How did the old Hawaiians ever carry the body of David Malo up this trail? (2) How did we ever get Fr. Morley to talk us into this?

However, once we reached the summit, it was well worth our time. Seeing David Malo's burial site and the vista from Mt. Ball of all of Lahaina town was awesome.

FOCUS ON PEOPLE

Deciding to Be a Priest ✦ Pathways to Ministry

By JESSICA HAWORTH
St. Clement's, Honolulu

On May 4, 2000, I was blessed with the opportunity to travel all the way to Texas for the Pathways to Ministry, National High School Conference, thanks to St. Michael's of Dallas, the Diocese of Hawai'i, and the encouragement and orchestration by our rector, Steven Bonsey.

This conference was for high school students who might have an interest in the ministry. Currently, in the Episcopal Church, there are only three hundred seminarians under the age of thirty-five, fifty under the age of thirty, and only nine under the age of twenty-five. These few hundred seminarians are enrolled in our eleven seminaries. Obviously, our church is having a problem with inspiring young people into the ministry. St. Michael's was inspired to organize and address this "growth stunt" and found young people across the United States who might be interested in filling this void. I was one of two high school students selected from our state. I packed my bags, fending off comments such as, "YOU?!! A priest? (HA, HA, HA)," I found my traveling partner from Maui, who was easy to spot on the non-stop flight to Dallas since we were the only non-white people aboard. Rheena, a senior from Kahalui, Maui, and I hit it off right away. We speculated about the experience we were about to embark upon.

After landing (very early Honolulu time) and being met by the coordinator of Pathways to Ministry, Martha Lang, we were provided an opportunity to eat an authentic Texan lunch and to shop (two things that I excel at!). We then met the priests at St. Michael's. I knew that we were going to have a great time when Father Mark Anschutz of St. Michael's, Dallas, greeted us wearing a clown nose. Later that evening we met up with the other thirteen students ranging from sophomores to seniors from all over the United States. I am proud to say that Rheena and I won the award for coming the farthest — both of us received beautiful crosses and the princess treatment where ever we went. We were known as the girls from Hawaii. All of the coordinators and our remarkable host family made sure we were very comfortable, which we were.

Our conference began with an introduction, icebreaker activities, and a Compline Service; it is really funny how one can instantly make friends when you do not know anyone. It also helped having the common tie of being raised in the Episcopal Church — we immediately felt close to each other, and the energy and caring of the priests who were conducting this conference created an environment that put us at ease. They definitely did not fit the stereotype of the old and boring priest (not that Steve would ever fit into this stereotype either), and yes, we really got to see that priests were human with very human lives.

The next day we woke up bright and early for morning prayers, and then we were separated into smaller groups for workshops. My group first experienced a vocation workshop. We talked about different vocations and various occupations that the ministry can provide. The Rev. Steve Swann, the headmaster of the Episcopal School of Dallas, spoke to us about his duties, how the school ran, and also told us about how he helped form this school.

Rev. Mike Harmuth, the lower school chaplain from the Episcopal School of Dallas, spoke to us about his experiences as the volunteer chaplain for the Dallas police and FBI. (I never knew that the police or FBI even had a chaplain!) It makes sense that these officers must need someone to counsel them after they go through some traumatizing experiences. Rev. Harmuth also talked about his ministry with the lower school children, using teachers and students to act out parables and to perform during their chapel service. The teachers and students also actively participated in the worship service as chalice bearers, readers, etc. Even his pet boxer has been an "altar" dog. With my love of theatre, children, and animals (although sometimes it seems that the last two are interchangeable), I immediately was inspired by Rev. Harmuth's enthusiasm and creativity.

The next workshop was about theological education. The Rev. Bill Power, a priest who was a retired teacher of theology, initially wanted to become an archeologist. Rev. Power was brilliant — he spoke a bunch of languages, and you could tell right off, that he knew everything. Maryetta Anschutz, a seminarian, is soon to become a fourth generation priest. Yes, her great-grandfather, grandfather, father, and now, Maryetta — priesthood definitely runs in this family! Rev.

Power and Maryetta talked about their calling and discussed reasons why we might want to study theology.

Next we talked about parish ministry. I thought I already understood how much work it is to be a priest and how time-consuming it is for not only the priest but his or her family by watching the Bonseys over the past five years. Although we were reminded that there were "downs," parish ministry was also presented as the best job in the world. Not only do you have a really great boss (the BIG guy up there), but the rewards were numerous. Rev. Mark Anschutz spoke of how, as a parish minister, he has been able to watch young families grow — from premarital counseling to the baptism of the same couples' children.

Lastly, we talked about how God has called upon us. It was really interesting that, out of all the participants in the conference, none of us had planned to become priests. I was brought to this conference because of a test I took last year in my Careers Class. Somehow, I received a very high score for clergy which seemed to surprise everyone, except Steve Bonsey and Elisabeth Keller. My parents have always told this story, that the reason they came back to St. Clement's Church was because at age five I asked them why we didn't pray before dinner. Well, because my parents are a bit crazy, they went overboard as usual, and we started going to church, every Sunday.

After going through the Sunday School program at St. Clement's and helping out in the nursery, I'm now assisting as a catechist in the Atrium of three- to six-year-olds. Honestly, the thought of having a career in the church had never crossed my mind. When Steve had heard about this conference, he suggested that I attend to see if I was interested in a "Pathway to Ministry." I guess I describe my interest in the ministry as an idea that I keep "stumbling" over; this has been my calling.

As part of the conference, we were all packed into vans and went to the site of the church's Jubilee project. St. Michael's was currently building inexpensive housing for the elderly in a neighborhood they wished to uplift. We got a chance to get our hands dirty and warm up in the sun. Not only were we helping out building these homes, we were given yet another opportunity to bond with each other.

The conference was coming to an end, and we were all very sad to part. We suggested that there needed to be a follow-up session with our group in the near future to see where our individual "pathways" were leading us; the group unanimously agreed that our next gathering would have to be in Hawai'i. After this weekend, we definitely will need an opportunity to re-group and come back to discuss issues that were raised and questions that I'm sure all of us are having. Plus, it just wasn't enough time!

As the plane lifted off of the ground, I was thankful for the Texas spirit of my host family, the nurturing and guidance of the clergy, and the excitement of meeting and making friends for life. It is undeniable that a career as a priest would be fulfilling; I enjoy helping others, teaching, and I have an interest in philosophy, speaking, and of course, listening. As a minister, a lot of my gifts would be utilized. I had never thought that ministry would be my destiny, but, after this weekend in May, I believe that it just might happen.

I remain waiting for my "burning bush."

"Good Samaritans" to IHS

The parishioners of Good Samaritan Church, Honolulu, with a lot of help from the Palolo seniors group, collected 137 mugs to donate to IHS. This "mug shot" was taken during Bishop Chang's annual visit to the parish on Sunday, May 7.

Bits & Pieces CPR Classes Offered

Beginning on July 9, the Rev. Tancredo Pastores will be offering a free Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation Class (CPR) in accordance with the American Heart Association standards, plus free blood pressure checks every Saturday, 9:00 AM - 12:00 noon, at Holy Cross Church, Kahuku. Applicants of all ages do not need to register (just show up). Tripler Army Medical Center certificates will be awarded to everyone who completes the class.

Calling All Canterbury House Alumni

Come to a reunion on August 20 at C House! A constant during the turmoil of college in the 60s was C House. It was always there for a safe haven, for friends, and for a place to play cards and take a nap. And maybe a little study. Join us to reminisce about good times with old friends. All associated with Canterbury House in all times, ways and places are invited. Please bring photos to share during our cookout. For more information, page or e-mail the Rev. Pam Junge at 571-3235, <honeybee@lava.net> or Sandy Souza at 252-5952, <ws@hawaii.rr.com> Help us spread the word.

New Beginnings Planned for December

New Beginnings, a spiritual weekend for 7th, 8th, 9th and mature 6th graders, will be held December 8-10, 2000 at Camp Mokule'ia. Watch for more information!
